

Inaccessible profiles a challenge

the devices for two-factor authentication

After posting it was embarrassing

38 % that I posted a akward image of myself.

32 % that I posted an image that my parents should not see.

> 27 % that I posted something I had a strange feeling about.

23 % that i commented something I saw later different.

22 % that I liked akward content.

Living in an online stream

social networks and young people's self image

Maybe young people post less due to fear of negative consequences.

20%

35 % ≠

negative experiences online

observed by young people:

peers made fun about a person

others got a bad impression of a person

a person was insulted

friends broke off contact

a person lost control over the spread of an image (of oneself)

35 % during registration

29 % on a regularly bases

14% never 22 % if required

> learn through

Editing images is important but time consuming. It should not be noticed by others.

(((

workshops, mistakes in school

parents friends

Opinions on image editing: 79 % Young people present themselves online bette 76 % Fake profiles are common 62 % Every image is edited. but I edit my images. I use filters. Co-financed by the European Union Connecting Europe Facility The contents of this publication are the sole responsibility of Saferinternet.at and do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the European Union. This work is licensed under a creative commons attribution (Saferinternet.at, studioback.at) non commercial account.

72% of those vary their

Last week I posted an image

profile pictures on each network

use several social networks

at the same time ...

of myself ...

Saferinternet.at

